

THE TRANSCAUCASIAN CAMPAIGN.
THE CIRCASSIAN INSURGENTS THREATENING
RUSSIAN COMMUNICATIONS—POTI ABAN-
DONED BY THE INHABITANTS—A SORTIE
FROM KARS.

LONDON, June 11.—A special dispatch from Soukoum-Kaleh to the Daily Telegraph has the following: "The insurrection is spreading. The commanders are vigorously attempting to cut the Russian communication."

Under date of May 28 Lloyds' agent in Poti writes: "The town of Poti is deserted. The shops are closed, and the inhabitants have fled into the interior. Only a few soldiers remain to oppose the landing of Circassians from the Turkish transports."

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 11.—Mukhtar Pasha, under date of June 10, telegraphs as follows: "The garrison of Kars made a successful artillery sortie and pursued the enemy."

The New York Times

Published: June 12, 1877

Copyright © The New York Times